

To the parents, whānau, and kaiako

ERO's Akanuku | Assurance Review of Your Early Childhood Service

The Education Review Office (ERO) will soon be undertaking an Akanuku | Assurance Review of your early childhood service. The manager of your service will let you know when the review team will be onsite.

What does ERO want to know?

ERO is interested in evaluating the information and practices the service has to show how it meets regulatory standards and provides for the health and safety of your children.

To find this out, ERO will assess whether the service is meeting the regulatory standards associated with curriculum, premises and facilities, health and safety and governance, management and administration.

ERO reviewers will talk with adults in the service, read documents and observe aspects of the curriculum. ERO will also be interested in how parents and whānau are supported to contribute to their child's learning and how kaiako and parents and whānau are involved in decision-making in the service.

Once we have all the information we need, ERO will summarise what we found in a brief report. The report will be sent to your service and will be published on our website after the review (www.ero.govt.nz).

How can you get involved?

Our review officers are happy to talk to parents, whānau and kaiako during the review.

We look forward to being in your early childhood service.
