OFFICIAL INFORMATION ACT REQUEST – Data to support our theory that high quality ECE is one of the factors that is supporting young children to be healthy?

Thank you for following up my initial response to your inquiry and clarifying what we can help you with.

Two further sets of information are attached below.

The 2009 monograph series of reports.

You may find that this link takes you to the reports you are seeking

<https://thehub.swa.govt.nz/resources/early-childhood-monograph-series-the-quality-of-education-and-care-in-early-childhood-services/>

This link should take you to a page with three separate reports, one each for playcentres, kindergartens and home-based education and care. I have listed these three separately in case the above link does not connect with the pages you are looking for.

How ECE centres across the country are doing in relation to the ERO criteria

Attached below are links to ERO's Annual Reports some of which contain the information that may allow you to make the comparisons you are looking for. These reports are where that information is easily accessible. Please note that some annual reports do not report the comparative percentages across each of the range of overall review outcomes for that year. You will also note that we have moved from return times described in years to overall judgements of how well a service is providing for its children.
