Introduction

Poutama Reo provides a pathway for English-medium schools to review and improve their provision of Māori language schoolwide.

The development of Poutama Reo has evolved out of a body of policy and research work. The framework draws on the following:

- Maihi Karauna and Tau Mai te Reo — two key government strategies supporting the revitalisation of the Māori language
- Te Aho Arataki Marau mō te Ako i Te Reo Māori — national curriculum guidelines for the teaching of Māori language in English-medium schools
- Te Tāmata Huaroa — ERO’s investigation into the current provision of Māori language in English-medium schools
- Nihinihi Whenua Valuing te reo Māori: Student and whānau aspirations — ERO’s snapshot of student and whānau perspectives on Māori language in English-medium schools
- Whakanuia te Reo kia Ora — an evaluation of Māori language in English-medium schools.

These sources recognise the important contribution English-medium schools make toward ensuring that Māori language is valued and sustained as a living language in Aotearoa. In order to achieve the goals outlined by the Government and the aspirations of whānau, hapū, and iwi for Māori language, there is both a desire and need for consistent, progressive improvement in the current provision. Something more innovative and transformational is required that enables schools to see a pathway beyond foundational levels, and support students and whānau who aspire for more.

Poutama Reo has been designed as a self-review quality framework that schools can use independently to determine where they are currently at, and explore possible next steps to transform school policies, processes or practice in relation to the provision of Māori language across their school.

In this framework, the term below has the following meaning unless the context determines otherwise:

Māori language usually refers to the wider provision, including a formal teaching and learning programme (te reo Māori) and the creation of other conditions that support, promote and value the Māori language and its revitalisation.

Contextualising Poutama Reo

Poutama Reo sits within a wider context of Māori language revitalisation. The Government has set its commitment to the Māori language through its Maihi Karauna strategy. The Maihi Karauna outlines three “Audacious Goals” for Aotearoa:

The Ministry of Education, through its Tau Mai te Reo strategy, recognises the key contribution of the education sector to the realisation of these government goals. The education strategy for Māori language sets a three level approach: Mihi mai te Reo, Kōrero mai te Reo, and Tau mai te Reo.

Poutama Reo is focused on implementing the Tau mai te Reo approach. Continuing with the status quo will not achieve the goals outlined in the Maihi Karauna and the vision set down by Tau Mai te Reo. We need to do things differently. We need to do more and better; we need to be innovative and transformational. For those schools already on the journey, Poutama Reo provides a framework of continuous progression.

Aligning to the Government’s strategies: Tau Mai te Reo and the Maihi Karauna

1. Tau Mai Te Reo: The Māori Language in Education Strategy 2013–2017 – Ministry of Education

2. Maihi Karauna: The Crown’s Strategy for Māori Language Revitalisation, 2019–2023 – Te Puni Kōkiri

National Curriculum Guidelines

The New Zealand Curriculum<sup>3</sup>, Te Aho Arataki Marau mo te Ako i te Reo Māori<sup>4</sup> and Te Marautanga o Aotearoa<sup>5</sup> are the current principle planning documents for designing, implementing and assessing te reo Māori teaching and learning programmes in English-medium schools. These describe what students should know and be able to do at particular stages, reflecting their growing proficiency in the language as they progress through the curriculum levels.

These documents are interchangeable and dependent on three factors; student and whānau language learning needs, the capability and capacity of the school environment, and te reo Māori pathways offered by the school, these have many different names. (For example, Rumaki Reo, Reo Rua, Bilingual, Dual-medium etc...)

The diagram below reflects the expectations of the curriculum documents collectively and highlights the expectations that students who are engaged in learning te reo Māori should be operating at level 5 by the end of Year 10. This ensures they are better positioned to meet the demands of NCEA Level 1 at Year 11.

The Concept

Poutama Reo is likened to the journey of Tāne who ascended the heavens to acquire the baskets of knowledge. His journey is depicted in tukutuku panels as a stairway that illustrates a pathway of learning and progression.

This analogy is used to guide each school on their own improvement journey. The stairway presented in Poutama Reo explains the steps each school will need to take as they ascend the different levels.

*Kotahi te hiringa i kake ai a Tāne ki te rangi, ko te hiringa i te mahara
(It was only through intense perseverance, that Tāne ascended to the heavens)*

The Improvement Journey

A place of potential and growth. Guidance and support is required to take the next step “kia timata ai koutou i te haerenga.”
(Now is the time for everyone to start their journey).

He Hikoki

Unsteady

Acknowledging that there is work to be done to lift and raise expectations on a journey to becoming self sufficient “hikitia hapainga ki te taumata tiketike.”
(Lift and raise the bar of excellence).

He Hikinga

Lifting up

Acknowledging that the work is now about transforming practice and leading the way “kua huri te tai, ka huri te whakaaro.”
(As the tides turn, so too must our thinking).

He Hiringa

Ascending

Acknowledging that there has been a shift to a space of innovation and enlightenment. We are now ready to share the kete of knowledge.
“kotahi te hiringa i kake ai a Tāne, ko te hiringa i te mahara.”

The Four Levels

Poutama Reo describes Goals, Quality Indicators and Effective Practice in relation to the provision of Māori language in English-medium schools. In order to support every English-medium school to offer and continuously improve its provision of Māori language, the framework identifies four levels of provision:

The Four Dimensions

The four dimensions are the key levers for improvement and change in the provision of Māori language in an English-medium school. The four dimensions are student agency, whānau, hapū, and iwi, teaching and learning, and leading. These levers are presented as dimensions in the framework:

The framework is presented by dimension – Student Agency, Whānau, Hapū, and Iwi, Teaching and Learning and Leading. This format supports schools that may be at different levels across the dimensions or that want to review and set goals for particular dimensions.

This format supports teachers to work together to review their practice, and leaders to identify their next steps.

Goals, quality indicators and examples of effective practice are described for each dimension in relation to:

Planning | Delivering | Monitoring.

Self-Review for Improvement

The intention of the quality framework is twofold. It allows schools to assess their current provision of Māori language, and encourages ongoing internal evaluation and inquiry directed at improving Māori language outcomes across the school.

Noticing

Noticing is having an inquiring 'habit of mind' and being open to scrutinising data. Familiarise yourself with the Goals, Quality Indicators and Effective Practice on pages 16-31 of this document.

Ask yourself

- What hunches do we have about Māori language strategies and plans in our school?
- What is going on here?
- Which learners are impacted and how?
- Where do we think we are currently placed on the framework for each dimension?

Investigating

Investigating means looking for sufficient data that is fit-for-purpose and actively seeking the perspectives of students, teachers, whānau, hapū, and iwi.

Ask yourself

- What do we already know about Māori language plans in our school?
- How do we know this?
- What do we need to find out?
- How might we do this?
- What good questions should we ask?
- Who do we need to talk to?
- How will we gather relevant and useful data?

Collaborative Sense Making

Collaborative sense making means scrutinising data with an open mind and ensuring that you are using different kinds of data (quantitative and qualitative). It means being able to identify where you are placed on the Poutama.

Ask yourself

- What is our data telling us, what insights does it provide about our Māori language programmes?
- What are our students telling us?
- What are our whānau telling us?
- How do we feel about what we have found?
- Do we have different interpretations of the data?
- What might we need to explore further?

Planning for Improvement

Planning for improvement means we understand what we need to do to improve. That we are focused on equitable progress and outcomes for students. We prioritise and purposefully plan for improvement. We are clear about the actions we need to take and why.

Ask yourself

- What do we need to do with our Māori language strategies and plans and why?
- What are our options?
- What strengths do we have to build on?
- What support and resources might we need?
- How big are the changes we have in mind?
- Are our timelines appropriate? – Set short and mid term goals.

Monitoring and Evaluating Impact

Monitoring and evaluating impact means knowing what you aim to achieve and being clear about monitoring your progress. It means having processes and tools in place to track the progress and impact of your Māori language plan. It means checking in with students and their whānau.

Ask yourself

- What is happening to te reo Māori learning in our school because of our actions?
- How do we know this, what evidence do we have?
- Do we need to adjust what we are doing?
- Which of our students are benefitting (or not benefitting) from our work?
- How regularly are we monitoring our progress towards our goals?

Using Poutama Reo

By following this process, you will develop a better understanding of the framework and what is required to move up the Poutama Reo levels. All judgment should be recorded on the self-review tool (located in the back pocket of this document).

Use the goals, quality indicators and examples of effective practice to identify where on the framework you feel your school is currently and where you aspire to be in terms of the provision of Māori language across your school.

In each dimension, Leading, Teaching and Learning, Whānau, Hapū, and Iwi and Student Agency read through the goals and the quality indicators.

Using sufficient data gathered in your investigation decide where your school fits in the quality indicators for planning, delivering, and monitoring. Highlight where you are within planning, delivering and monitoring.

Looking at the judgements you have made within the quality indicators, make a holistic, overall, 'best fit', judgement to identify the goal that currently best fits your school in each dimension.

For each dimension, Leading, Teaching and Learning, Whānau, Hapū, and Iwi and Student Agency use the continuum to indicate where you are within planning, delivering and monitoring.

Decide where your school fits in the effective practice examples for planning, delivering, and monitoring. Highlight where you are within planning, delivering and monitoring.

Looking at the judgements you have made within the effective practice, make a holistic, overall, 'best fit', judgment to identify the goal that currently best fits your school in each dimension.

Consider all the judgements you have made and make an overall decision about what level your school sits at in Poutama Reo.

Use the Wharangi Arotake (Self-Review Tool) located in the back pocket, to document practice and desired short and mid term goals.

PLANNING

Quality Indicators

A schoolwide progressive Māori language strategy plan is: yet to be initiated or recently initiated and developed with staff, students, whānau, hapū, and iwi.

A schoolwide progressive Māori language strategy plan has been developed with whānau, hapū, and iwi. The plan has a strong focus on developing the capability of staff and students in te reo Māori.

Leaders develop a Māori language strategy and action plan that:

- aligns to a robust Tiriti o Waitangi policy which recognises the special place of Māori language in Aotearoa and in our communities
- supports processes for the teaching and learning of te reo Māori as a valued part of the school curriculum
- sets out:
  - a school vision for Māori language in the school
  - achievement targets that support students to value, acquire and use Māori language
  - priorities for developing staff capability
  - includes discussions with whānau, hapū, and iwi within the language strategy and planning process.

A schoolwide progressive Māori language strategy plan reflects whānau, hapū, and iwi aspirations and continues to build the capability of staff and students in te reo Māori and considers ways to develop a marau-ā-kura to reflect a te Ao Māori world view.

Leaders develop a strategy that:

- is co-constructed with local whānau, hapū, and iwi
- reflects a te Ao Māori world view through the development of a marau-ā-kura
- is reviewed regularly
- sets long-term Māori language goals and the key outcomes to be achieved toward meeting those goals (theory of change)
- supports the school curriculum to reflect and value te reo Māori and the aspirations that whānau, hapū, and iwi have for the language
- innovates new approaches to:
  - engage with whānau, hapū, and iwi
  - build teacher capability
  - build students' confidence and ability to talk about a range of topics in Māori language as outlined in the national curriculum
  - provide adequate resourcing and support
  - develop language progressions
- raises the status and visibility of Māori language in the school and community.

A schoolwide progressive Māori language strategy plan influences all decision making and drives continuous improvement for all staff, students and their whānau and proactively enables the development of the marau-ā-kura within school and across the community.

Leaders develop a strategy that:

- embraces a te Ao Māori world view through the school's marau-ā-kura
- relentlessly drives continuous improvement in the teaching and learning of Māori language throughout the school
- ensures sustainability of the teaching and learning of Māori language across the school
- supports whānau to strengthen their own language and tikanga competence
- accesses the expertise of whānau, hapū, and iwi
- continues to build the capability of whānau, students and staff in te reo Māori and tikanga Māori
- contributes to the revitalisation of the Māori language
- supports a school curriculum that encourages te reo Māori as a living language
- gives effect to Te Tiriti o Waitangi, Maihi Karauna, Tau Mai te Reo and Ka Hikitia by transforming practices around:
  - curriculum
  - staffing
  - resourcing
  - decision making.

DELIVERING

Leaders and the school board are motivated to develop and deliver a collaborative and progressive Māori language strategy plan.

Leaders and the school board are focused on identifying where resources will be targeted to grow te reo Māori schoolwide.

Leaders and the school board support Māori language in the school by gathering relevant information from all dimensions to transform policies, processes and practices and are beginning to distribute targeted resources to grow te reo Māori schoolwide.

Leaders:

- develop their understanding of Māori language as an official language of Aotearoa and a taonga of Māori people
- set Māori language goals for developing their own Māori language competence
- correctly pronounce and use common Māori language, such as greetings, names, words, and simple phrases
- set an expectation that staff will increase their Māori language capabilities.

Leaders and the school board prioritise Māori language by distributing targeted resources to establish schoolwide systems, upskill staff and implement quality Māori language learning programmes and begin to lead the development of a marau-ā-kura that reflects a te Ao Māori world view and the schoolwide vision for te reo Māori.

Leaders:

- enable the development of the school's marau-ā-kura
- can articulate a vision for Māori language in their school
- proactively articulate to students and school community, the benefits of Māori language and its contribution to Hononga
- initiate the use of Māori language in their communications and interactions
- actively support staff to develop their Māori language capabilities
- actively develop their own Māori language ability.

All leaders and the school board champion Māori language with the support of whānau, hapū, and iwi. They understand their role and responsibilities to leading a dual curriculum/ marau.

Leaders and the school board continue to distribute targeted resources to sustain a schoolwide environment. They enable progressive, innovative, and quality te reo Māori learning programmes that embrace a te Ao Māori world view.

Leaders:

- authentically integrate a te Ao Māori world view through the school's marau-ā-kura
- actively learn Māori language and share their learning with others
- identifies ways to demonstrate their own and the school's commitment to Māori language revitalisation
- use common Māori language greetings, place names, salutations, words, phrases, and sentences correctly in their daily work

Leaders and school board in partnership with staff, students, whānau, hapū, and iwi robustly monitor intended outcomes, to ensure sustainable and innovative learning pathways

and
effectively use self-review to understand and respond to the needs of staff, students and whānau within their te reo Māori pathways.

Leaders:

- effectively use self-review tools to monitor progress and respond to the needs of their school and wider community.
- review the Māori language provision as part of the school's self-review process
- understand and identify that teachers' language learning needs are as diverse as their students
- identify next steps for ongoing improvement, for teachers, students and whānau, and implement pathways for achieving those goals.

Goals

Teachers are aware of their professional responsibility to support learners to value, acquire and use Māori language.

Teachers recognise and carry out their professional responsibility to support learners to value, acquire and use Māori language.

Teachers collaborate with whānau, hapū, iwi and colleagues to define Māori language goals which reflect whakapapa and tikanga. They strive to build their own language capability.

Teachers are confident identifying the specific language needs of students and whānau, hapū, and iwi and can respond accordingly. They actively integrate Māori language and tikanga across the wider school curriculum.

PLANNING

Quality Indicators

Teachers are yet to plan progressive te reo Māori learning programmes that reflect the national curriculum or
they are yet to implement these programmes.

Teacher planning of te reo Māori reflects the progression of the national curriculum.

Teachers:

- plan Māori language programmes that are coordinated and progressive
- define Māori language goals based on the language and tikanga outcomes identified in the national curriculum
- identify suitable planning and teaching resources that support effective language acquisition
- include formative and summative assessment in Māori language programme planning
- plan for the acquisition of vocabulary, phrases and other forms of language that are used on a regular basis in Aotearoa e.g., pepeha, whakataukī, greetings, acknowledgements, waiata etc.

Teacher planning of te reo Māori programmes respond to their students and reflects local context and language (mita)
and
teachers work with leaders to consider ways to develop a marau-ā-kura that reflects a te Ao Māori world view.

Teachers:

- plans embrace a te Ao Māori world view
- collaborate with whānau to plan Māori language programmes
- define appropriate Māori language goals for students that incorporate reo-ā-iwi, local tikanga, and whānau aspirations
- plan programmes that build on prior knowledge of students
- plan programmes that fit cohesively within the schoolwide Māori language plan
- plan programmes that include the modes of language learning (listening, reading, viewing, writing, speaking and presenting)
- initiate discussions with colleagues about how they might contribute to one another's programmes
- plan their next steps to continue developing their own capability to deliver Māori language programmes
- identify characteristics of local mita
- develop understanding of the relationship between language and culture and that customs and protocols go hand in hand.

Planning enables a te Ao Māori world view through the marau-ā-kura, and ensures te reo Māori programmes are differentiated to support the diverse language needs of students.

Te reo Māori programmes are integrated into wider contexts and curriculum areas.

Teachers:

- plans embrace a te Ao Māori world view
- collaborate with colleagues and whānau to identify specific language needs and strengths of their students
- consider students prior learning and differentiate accordingly
- prepare for sustainability by clearly documenting language plans, progressions, assessments, and resources
- plan multiple opportunities for students to engage in all modes of language learning
- integrate Māori language and tikanga across the curriculum to consolidate te reo Māori learning outcomes
- regularly review and set Māori language goals to improve their own language ability and capability to deliver Māori language programmes.

DELIVERING

Teachers are yet to implement progressive te reo Māori learning programmes

or
are in the early stages of implementation.

Teachers recognise the importance of Māori language in the school

and
begin their own reo Māori learning journey.

Teacher delivery of te reo Māori reflects the progression of the national curriculum.

Teachers demonstrate the importance of Māori language in the school and continue to progress their own confidence and capability in te reo Māori.

Teachers:

- complete a Māori language learning programme appropriate to their identified learning needs
- correctly pronounce and use common Māori language greetings, names, words, and simple phrases (many teachers will be performing at Te Ahu o te reo Māori – Level 3)
- use Māori language (short phrases) as a normal part of their teaching practice across the curriculum
- are beginning to explore teaching pedagogies for language learning
- deliver Māori language programmes that are coordinated and progressive.

Teacher delivery of te reo Māori programmes respond to their students and reflects local context and language (mita)

and
they are beginning to contextualise their delivery through a dual/marau lens that reflects a te Ao Māori world view.

Teachers proactively articulate the benefits of Māori language and its contribution to the 'Hononga' goal outlined in Maihi Karauna.

Teachers:

- engage students with a range of language learning resources that responds to their needs
- deliver a te reo Māori language programme that reflects a te Ao Māori world view
- actively learn Māori language and share their learning with others
- actively share with students and whānau the benefits of learning Māori language
- advocate for and use Māori language in their professional practice
- respect the local mita
- are beginning to incorporate effective language teaching pedagogies into their programmes.

Delivery of te reo Māori programmes are clearly differentiated to support the diverse language needs of students. Te reo Māori is integrated into wider contexts and curriculum areas.

Teachers champion Māori language schoolwide. They are able to contextualise their delivery through a dual curriculum/marau lens that embraces a te Ao Māori world view.

Teachers are intentional about their contribution to te reo Māori revitalisation.

Teachers:

- engage students with carefully sequenced learning tasks that provide multiple opportunities for students to make links between prior knowledge and new learning
- deliver a te reo Māori language programme that authentically embraces a te Ao Māori world view
- introduce language learning opportunities that match the interests of students
- are deliberate in their use of Māori language inside and outside their classroom, with colleagues, whānau and students
- seek opportunities to improve their effectiveness and identify creative solutions to engage and support increasing confidence and competence in the use of Māori language
- encourage and support others on their Māori language learning journeys
- implement and successfully complete their plans for ongoing learning of Māori language and tikanga
- have control and mastery over their language teaching pedagogy and can articulate their pedagogical approach.

MONITORING

Quality Indicators

Teachers are yet to or are beginning to develop systems and assessments to monitor the effectiveness of their programme, to support students to value, acquire and use Māori language.

Teachers monitor the effectiveness of their programme to support students to value, acquire and use Māori language.

Teachers:

- use formative assessment practices in both formal and informal contexts
- design assessment tasks that are relevant to planned language outcomes
- assess students in relation to specific Māori language objectives derived from the school's Māori language targets and national curriculum expectations
- use assessment information to inform next steps with language learning
- review their planned language objectives.

Teachers monitor the effectiveness of their te reo Māori programme through a process of self review. Together with the students and their whānau, they co-construct a way forward.

Teachers:

- plan assessment tasks that provide reporting information on progress toward whānau, hapū, and iwi aspirations
- use a process of self-review to monitor progress and respond to student and whānau needs and aspirations
- share Māori language outcomes and successes with whānau and work together to set further goals for students
- provide constructive feedback to support students to identify next learning steps
- reflect on the effectiveness of their teaching practice.

Teachers effectively use self-review to monitor and respond to the learning needs and aspirations of students and whānau within their te reo Māori pathways.

Together they can identify and implement innovative strategies for improving overall outcomes.

Teachers:

- effectively use self-review to monitor progress and respond to the needs and aspirations of the students and whānau
- design assessment tasks that reflect communicative language pedagogies
- use assessment to identify specific language needs and strengths of their students
- are able to use assessment as a basis to differentiate learning programmes for individual students
- continuously review and reflect on the effectiveness and delivery of Māori language teaching programmes
- inquire into the effectiveness of their practice for teaching te reo Māori.
